Platform
Committee
Hears LodgeGovernor Romney
Also Calls For
GOP Responsibility

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—With a warning to Republicans never to embrace "a trigger-happy foreign policy," Henry Cabot Lodge kept the stop-Goldwater barrage rolling before the GOP Platform Committee on Wednesday.

Without mentioning Sen. Barry Goldwater by name, the former ambassador to South Vietnam took an obvious swipe at the front-running Arizona's pronouncements on foreign and military policy.

Lodge resigned his Asian post to help Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton's late-starting attempt to wrest from Goldwater the party's presidential nomination.

He told the 100 platform writers: "We must never countenance such a thing as a trigger-happy foreign policy which would negate everything we stand for and destroy everything we hope for—including life itself."

"No candidate for president, therefore, should so campaign as to divide America before the world."

Lodge prefaced his appeal for a "prudent and positive" foreign policy with a disclaimer that he has hopes of being a "third-choice" nominee.

"Having renounced all personal ambition for future political office, I talk to you here with complete frankness."

Another big-name Republican, Michigan Gov. George W. Romney, preceded Lodge to the rostrum for what seemed to be an effort to conciliate the factional fight between the Goldwater and Scranton forces.

Romney declared the Republican party "unequivocally repudiates extremists and rejects their efforts to infiltrate or attach themselves to our party or its candidates."

But he did not demand disavowal of the John Birch Society, whose support Goldwater has never disavowed. And he indicated he did not think critics of Goldwater's civil rights stand should precipitate a fight over the rights plank in the national convention next week.

Athena Missile
Finally Makes Good Flight

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M. (AP)—The much-maligned and oft-troubled Athena missile finally made its first successful overland flight Wednesday after two previous failures.

The four-stage, solid-fuel rocket, scavenged from existing missile systems, roared into the desert sky over Green River, Utah, at 3:23 p.m. (MST) for the estimated 15-minute, 475-mile trip to White Sands.

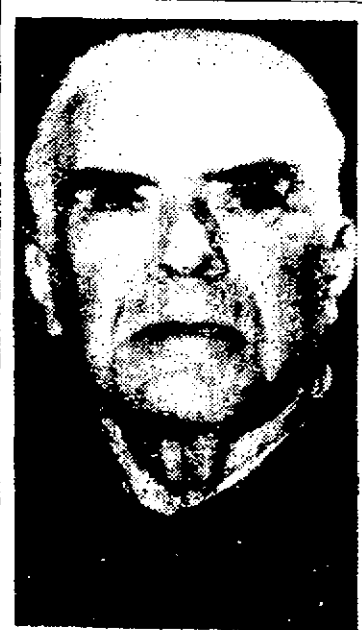

Neither the Air Force nor White Sands, which handled range safety and monitoring of the 33-foot rocket, would say how long the trip took.

An Air Force spokesman said the missile carried one of a series of sub-scale experimental re-entry vehicles which is being tested as part of a program to develop advanced re-entry vehicles for space travel and intercontinental ballistic missiles.

The first and second stages of the test vehicle drove the missile to about 250,000 feet and the third and fourth stages drove the nose cone back into the atmosphere at a speed approaching that of an ICBM re-entering the atmosphere.

UNDELIVERED—Although he retired in 1956 after 34 years as a mail carrier in Water Mill, N.Y., Lorin F. Shipper, 75, has over two tons of undelivered mail in his garage, officials said this week. Roy Peterson, Southampton, N.Y., postmaster said, "the carrier must have delivered all the mail he thought was important and just put the rest away in his garage. No action can be taken, officials said, because the five-year statute of limitations has expired. UAW And AMC
Agree On Plan
For Bargaining

DETROIT (AP)—American Motors Corp. and the United Auto Workers Union agreed Wednesday they would not complete a 1964 contract until the UAW has worked out its agreements with the automotive Big Three.

The decision to place American Motors on what UAW President Walter P. Reuther has called "the back burner" came at an initial four-hour bargaining session.

Edward L. Cushman, AMC vice president, served notice on the UAW that the firm considers its present contract with the UAW well above those which the union has with Ford, Chrysler and General Motors.

He pointed out that AMC workers get 39 minutes relief time during an eight-hour day, while the Big Three contracts call for 24. In addition, he cited recent UAW literature saying AMC workers get 9 or 10 cents an hour more over-all than workers at the Big Three.

Cushman said AMC felt it is at a disadvantage with its competitors because it grants more to its workers.

Reuther conceded that AMC workers fare better in relief time than other auto workers and that they are the only ones with a profit, or progress, sharing plan in the industry.

"We have known all along that AMC because of its profit sharing pays 9 or 10 cents an hour more than the Big Three, but we intend to get that additional increment from the Big Three, not as profit sharing but in other ways this time around."

After the exchange of opening statements in a four-hour session, AMC and the UAW agreed to recess their national negotiations until Aug. 19.

Ten Workers
Targets Of Terrorists

MCCOMB, Miss. (AP)—Three rapid-fire explosions Wednesday ripped a wall from a house in which 10 civil rights workers slept. Two were hurt.

The predawn blasts, "like gunshots, only much louder," apparently came from homemade bombs hurled from the street.

Police in this southwest Mississippi city and FBI agents cordoned off the civil rights "freedom house," waiting for arrival from Washington of an FBI expert on explosives.

"We are making a full investigation," and FBI spokesman said.

The explosions, the third in McComb's Negro section in recent weeks, damaged a late model car parked by the small frame building.

The damaged room is a converted garage with a wide window where a door formerly was. Curtis Hayes, 21, McComb, a Negro, was asleep near the window when the explosions occurred 18 inches from the wall.

"My bed had been kicked about four feet from its original position and just disintegrated. I was lying on the floor in glass from the window. The drapes were on top of me. The whole front wall had been blown out."

Hayes showed newsmen small cuts from his head to his feet. He said they were made by flying glass.

Hayes' roommates were George Green, 21, a Negro and like Hayes—a Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee staff worker, and Dennis Sweeney, 21, a Stanford University student from Portland, Ore.

Sweeney is one of 300 college students who have volunteered for civil rights work in Mississippi during the summer. A physician said he suffered a mild brain concussion and shoulder lacerations.

The explosions tore a hole 16 inches wide and 10 inches deep in the concrete driveway.

The bombs apparently were tossed over the car parked in the driveway. The car's front windshield was shattered.

Windows in three houses across the street were smashed. The Rev. Don McCord, a volunteer worker from Stafford, Kan., was sleeping in another room when the blasts occurred.

"I heard a loud blast, then spoke began pouring in the room and I got up," he said.

FBI agents and McComb police already were working on two other recent bombings—of a barbershop owned by a leader of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and of three Negro houses. There have been no arrests.

Four Workers
Die In Cave-In

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Four construction workers digging a new sewer line near here were killed Wednesday when two of them were caught in a cave-in and the other two jumped into the ditch to try to rescue them.

The walls of the 14-foot-deep trench collapsed on the four men, burying them under tons of earth up to six feet deep. By the time fellow workers, aided by police could dig them out, all had died.

Police identified the victims as Jack Carr, 35, of nearby Jamesville; Bruce Phillips, 40, of Syracuse; Alex Stinick of Bridgeport; and Harvey Loe, of Syracuse and Lewisburg, Pa.

The town's police chief, Donald O'Hara, said Phillips and Stinick were working in the trench, when a small earthslide buried them up to their waists. Carr and Loe then jumped in and tried to dig them free, but a major cave-in buried all four.

Five Airmen Killed When

Crash During
Refueling Mission

GEORGE AFB, Calif. (UPI)—An Air Force tanker plane and a jet fighter collided in flight Wednesday while taking part in a training refueling mission, and all five airmen aboard the two planes were killed when the planes crashed in a barren area.

The Air Force reported that the planes crashed at the southern tip of Death Valley about 65 miles north of here.

The tanker, a KC135 jet from the 43rd Tanker Squadron based at Larson Air Force Base, Wash., carried four men, and the fighter, an F105 Thunderchief jet from this base, had only a pilot aboard.

The dead aboard the tanker were identified as Capt. Thomas F. Dozier, 36, Indio, Calif.; 1st Lt. Erwin W. Boelter Jr., 23, East Murray, Utah; 1st Lt. Ronald D. Williams Jr., 25, Eugene, Ore.; Sgt. Robert J. Graves, 31, Moses Lake, Wash.

The body of the jet fighter pilot was found in the wreckage. It was not immediately identified pending notification of relatives.

The Air Force said the planes were taking part in a "routine" refueling training mission when the accident occurred.

Gen. Taylor
Goes To Work
In Viet Nam

SAIGON (UPI)—General Maxwell D. Taylor, newly appointed ambassador to Viet Nam, brushed aside diplomatic protocol Wednesday to confer with Vietnamese Premier Mai. Nguyen Khanh on ways of stepping up the government's war against Communist guerrillas.

The meeting between the U.S. soldier-diplomat and the Vietnamese soldier-premier was held in defiance of normal diplomatic practice under which new diplomats do not meet with government officials until the formality of their accreditation is completed.

Taylor, wasting no time, called on Khanh for a one-hour talk even before presenting his credentials as ambassador to South Viet Nam's chief of state Maj. Gen. Duong Van Minh.

Well-informed U.S. sources said the talk centered on how the United States can best help embattled South Viet Nam achieve the more "vigorous implementation and execution" of the anti-guerrilla campaign that Taylor forecast immediately after his arrival in Saigon Tuesday.

At the same time it was disclosed that Taylor brought with him a message from President Johnson urging Americans in Viet Nam to redouble their efforts to help the government win final victory over the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

"The President asks of each of us an additional level of performance, something beyond what we may have been doing, however able that may have been," Taylor said in a letter relaying the President's plea.

Over 10,000 copies of the letter were being printed today for distribution to the more than 16,000 Americans serving in this Southeast Asian nation.

Hotchkiss, asked if the higher the price of a funeral, the greater the percentage of profit to funeral directors, replied, "I agree to that."

Harry J. Gilligan, a past president of the funeral directors' association, said that caskets influence the cost of funerals, but they are not the controlling factor.

Gilligan also sharply opposed advertising the prices of funerals, saying they are definitely self-serving.

The three-day hearing is expected to wind up Thursday.

Fireworks Fire
Claims 5 Lives

VIENNA, Va. (AP)—Five persons—three men, a woman and a boy—died early Wednesday in a fire which apparently had been started by fireworks.

The blaze, discovered at about 6 a.m., swept through a two-story frame house at 317 Maple St.

Those who died were in an apartment on the second floor of the building. The first floor is occupied by a store called the Swap Shop.

Police identified the victims as Mrs. Elizabeth Worrell, 35, who lived in the apartment; her 10-year-old son, Joseph; Chester Turner Jr., Vienna; Harvey Herndon, Fairfax and Joseph Frenzel Jr., 22, Vienna.

Mrs. Worrell's 17-year-old daughter, Mrs. Gloria Grubb, who lived in the apartment with her mother, had fallen asleep in a car outside the house, police said, and was awakened by the arrival of fire trucks.

Police said a friend of Mrs. Grubbs, Dennis Layman, 25, of Fairfax, related that he also had been in the car outside the house. Police quoted him as saying that when he heard the fire sirens he rushed to the house and tried to enter but was driven back by the flames.

The blaze probably started in a rear stairwell, police said, and then swept through the second floor. The store apparently suffered little damage, police said.

A. Alfred Savia, an assistant fire marshal of Fairfax County, said Mrs. Grubb and Layman told investigators they had seen young Joseph Worrell playing with fireworks near the rear stairs about 3 a.m.

The fire, Savia said, apparently smoldered for some time and then erupted into a roaring blaze.

Hernon, police said, was found in the living room of the apartment. Frenzel and the boy were found in the bathroom. Turner was in the hall, and Mrs. Worrell beside her bed.

The owner of the building, Henry Ware of Vienna, said Mrs. Worrell had lived in the apartment about a year.

Jewel Thieves
Take Fortune
In Diamonds

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Diamond thieves in Tokyo, London, Paris and Shannon, Ireland, got away with $670,400 worth of gems this week.

A $55,000 diamond ring disappeared from the showcase of a Tokyo jewelry store in broad daylight Wednesday. Police believe the thief snatched it while a crowd gathered in the store for souvenir medals for the upcoming Olympic Games there.

A slick operator posing as a diamond agent got away with $288,400 worth of uncut diamonds from Shannon Airport. He worked so smoothly that the loss was not discovered for two days.

Shannon officials said Wednesday the diamonds were given to a well-dressed man with a foreign accent who called at the airport and said he was supposed to pick them up.

London criminals made off with $243,000 in diamonds in two burglaries and two robberies Monday.

In Paris, three masked men burst into the lobby of the Ritz Hotel just before Tuesday midnight, broke into the jewelry display cases and escaped with diamonds and emeralds valued at $84,000.

The owner of the building, Henry Ware of Vienna, said Mrs. Worrell had lived in the apartment about a year.

X15 Flies 3,511
Miles Per Hour

EDWARDS AFB, Calif. (UPI)—Capt. Joe Engle Wednesday successfully flew the X15 rocket plane at a speed five times the speed of sound and to an altitude of 32 miles in a test of a scanning device that may be utilized for navigation in future spacecraft.

Engle's flight had as its purpose testing of a horizon scanner, used to study infrared definition of the earth's horizon. This could be adapted for future spacecraft, according to a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

The flight also enabled Engle to make a pilot checkout of the adaptive control system which has the ability to sense atmospheric conditions surrounding the experimental craft.

The X15 attained a speed of 3,511 miles per hour. Its altitude of 170,000 feet was within 10,000 feet of the programmed height.

The flight was postponed twice before Wednesday's successful effort.

Governor
Is Confident
Of VictoryAssumes Command
Of His Campaign
For Nomination

By ALVIN SPIVAK

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—William W. Scranton arrived here late Wednesday to take personal command of his drive for the GOP presidential nomination and launched an immediate broadside attack on his front-running rival, Sen. Barry Goldwater.

The Pennsylvania governor told an airport crowd of about 500 well-wishers that he had come to this convention city because Republicans "want a candidate who can lead the party to victory in November—and that's what I'm going to do."

In a direct jab at Goldwater, he said "they most assuredly do not want a candidate who announces a full week before the nomination, as the senator from Arizona did yesterday, that he doesn't expect to win in November."

Refers To Interview
Scranton's reference was to an interview Goldwater gave to the German magazine "Der Spiegel" June 29 in which the senator said he did not think he could beat President Johnson "as of now" but that the picture could change by election day.

Although he did not mention Goldwater by name in his airport remarks, Scranton slapped the senator by implication with a series of statements, including:

"The Republican party is not another name for some ultra-rightist society"—an obvious reference to Scranton's call for a platform plank denouncing the John Birch Society, whose membership includes some Goldwater supporters.

"I am here to prove that we are responsible, rational Americans, not radical extremists...we do believe, in equal rights for all Americans, too."

This was an obvious criticism of Goldwater's Senate vote against the civil rights bill.

"We are a responsible party in the tradition of Lincoln and Taft and not Kent Courtney." Courtney is the publisher of an ultra-conservative periodical in New Orleans, who heads an "independent" committee for Goldwater.

"The Republicans have seen the calendar this year and they do know that it is 1964 and not 1964." Scranton said mail should be addressed to him at post office box 1964.

Says He'll Win
Standing amid a crush of political banners and speaking through a portable electronic bull horn, Scranton said "it is about time we have a Republican candidate come to San Francisco who believes he can beat Lyndon Johnson—and beat Lyndon Johnson is exactly what I plan to do next November."

"Maybe you're wondering who sent me here," Scranton said.

Hearing a chorus of "we did" from the predominantly youthful crowd, Scranton rejected their conclusion.

"No, I was sent by the Republican voters of the entire nation," he said. "It seems they want a choice in November as well as a choice in July."

He said Republicans want a candidate who has "confidence in victory."

At a news conference following his arrival address, the governor declined to estimate his delegate strength until he surveys the situation in this convention city.

He said only that he has been taking his case to the people around the country, and received an enthusiastic response. Now, he said, he is taking his case to the delegates.

Asked what he considered Goldwater's most vulnerable spot, he quickly replied: "his record."

Lodge Confident
Scranton Will Win

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge flatly predicted Wednesday that Gov. William W. Scranton will win the Republican Presidential nomination.

The former ambassador to South Viet Nam told a news conference he doesn't accept the estimates that give Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona scores of votes more than he needs to take the nomination the first ballot.

Scientists Hope A Daily Pill May Someday Prevent Cancer

EDITOR'S NOTE — One of the goals of many of the nation's cancer fighters is the development of means of preventing — not just curing — cancers in human beings. The following, last of three articles, explains what is happening in this field.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—One day you may take a daily pill to prevent major cancers.

And take shots of a vaccine to prevent leukemia, as you do against polio.

When? Optimistically within 5 to 10 years.

Heartening fact is these are serious goals envisioned now by top-notch cancer researchers. Others are driving toward another objective: strengthening the body's natural defenses against cancer.

And meanwhile there is a good deal a person can do by and for himself to escape America's second greatest lethal disease.

"Discovery is our business," reads the motto on the wall of the University of Chicago laboratory of Dr. Charles Huggins, renowned researcher who pioneered the role of hormones in controlling some cancers.

He and associates have discovered pills that prevent cancer in rats.

The rats always get breast cancer three weeks after eating a meal containing a cancer-causing chemical, nicknamed DMBA. But if they take the pill a day before taking the DMBA, they are completely protected.

The protector pills are naphthalene and azonathalene, in pinpoint amounts, just a few micrograms. Dr. Huggins thinks they work, in part, by "coating" the DNA of living cells, acting as a kind of shield against the arrow of DMBA.

DNA is shorthand for deoxyribonucleic acid. The genes that control the destiny of cells are believed to be composed of DNA molecules, arranged in precise sequences or code form.

"In 10 years, we may have our own cancer protectors, to take in daily pills, to make us immune to cancers caused by hydrocarbons," says the white-haired, soft-spoken scientist.

DMBA is a hydrocarbon, and humans are exposed to it and to many similar chemicals in tobacco smoke, in soot, in some foods, in insecticides. Many specialists believe the "hits" they score on DNA, the genetic material, give rise to the wayward gene of cancer.

A cigarette smoker, Dr. Huggins says he "knows that smoking does cause lung cancer" but takes his own chances. For he also believes that small amounts of cancer-causing chemicals in smoke can act as protectors—able to set up a defense unless the person is particularly susceptible, or gets an overwhelming dose.

That, he says, could explain why most smokers don't get lung cancer and also why a very large and growing number do.

A vaccine against leukemia, and perhaps other types of cancers, may well come earlier.

"I am confident that a virus or viruses of human leukemia will be isolated soon—if it has not already been done," says Dr. James T. Grace Jr. of Roswell Park Memorial Institute, Buffalo, N.Y.

"It might turn out to be a very common virus, harbored by most people, but with only a few becoming victims of it. A vaccine could then be prepared against it."

Such a vaccine could create protective antibodies to prevent the leukemia virus from acting to change some DNA into a cancer-causing gene.

The problem might turn out to be more complicated than they work, in part, by "coating" the DNA of living cells, acting as a kind of shield against the arrow of DMBA.

DNA is shorthand for deoxyribonucleic acid. The genes that control the destiny of cells are believed to be composed of DNA molecules, arranged in precise sequences or code form.

"In 10 years, we may have

Farber of Children's Hospital in Boston. Only a very tiny percentage of people ever develop leukemia. Leukemia or other forms of cancer are not known to be catching, by all present evidence.

Most people never get obvious cancer, of any kind. The puzzle really is why a rather small percentage is victimized.

Part, at least, of the answer could lie in natural body defenses.

Something obviously goes amiss once a cancer takes hold. One idea is that the patient's defensive or mechanism for immunity becomes deficient in some way.

Another is that the cancer itself produces some chemical agent which depresses the immunity reaction, or the ability to resist the foreign and undesired tissue.

At Roswell Park, Drs. John and Ruth Graham, husband and wife, are beginning to narrow down what that kind of cancer-produced sabotaging agent might be. They hope to isolate it.

If they can, then they might find an antidote to the agent to restore the person's own normal and even curative defense mechanism against his own cancer.

And, as a by-product, the suppressive agent (made by cancer tissue) might itself be used to help make transplanted or borrowed organs, such as a kidney or liver or gland, "take" or survive in a person who needs to borrow a living, vital organ.

Thus on many fronts goes the struggle against cancer, by literally thousands of men and women hunting for and only sometimes finding clues to the great puzzle.

Scientists are hammering at the core of the puzzle—the wayward gene, how it gets that way, how to make it behave.

"In science," says Dr. Huggins, "one experiment leads to another. It is like a bucket brigade, carrying the water that finally will be dumped on the flame."

Navy Shadows Red Subs In Mediterranean

WASHINGTON (AP)—A U. S. Navy hunter-killer task group recently shadowed a force of Soviet submarines and supporting ships through the central Mediterranean, it was learned Tuesday night.

The U. S. antisubmarine group, comprising a carrier and six destroyers working with the 6th Fleet, made contact with the Soviet craft, some of which had entered the Mediterranean through Gibraltar and others from the Black Sea.

The U. S. group followed the Soviet subs, took pictures of them and tried to get them to respond to radio signals.

The Soviet force is understood now to have broken up, with the ships evidently returning from where they came.

The incident centered roughly off Tunisia but precisely when was not reported, although it was understood to have been very recently.

A spokesman for the Defense Department said of the report, "We do not comment on movements of fleet units." Officials noted that from time to time U. S. and Soviet vessels encounter each other in international waters.

There was no hostile demonstrations on either side, and the U. S. force regarded the operation as a valuable exercise in submarine detection and pursuit.

The two Soviet submarines were said to be conventional. They were accompanied by tenders, auxiliaries and a tanker. The Soviet force altogether totaled some six ships.

Goldwater Ignores Attack By Governor Scranton

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Barry Goldwater Wednesday ignored an attack by Gov. William W. Scranton to spend quiet day at home before flying to San Francisco to take charge of his campaign to win the GOP presidential nomination.

In Chicago, the Pennsylvania governor said Goldwater had disqualified himself as the GOP presidential candidate by telling a West German news magazine that as of now, no Republican could beat President Johnson.

While the front-running Arizona senator remained in seclusion, his aides pointed out that Goldwater also told the magazine that it would be a "horseshoe" for the presidency by November.

Press aide Tony Smith said Goldwater had no comment on the statement by Scranton. Joseph P. Burke said, "we Goldwater was to fly to San Francisco Thursday to participate in official convention preliminaries. The Arizona senator is scheduled to address the convention Platform Committee on Friday.

Impromptu remarks at the airport after his arrival and an afternoon press conference were the scheduled high points of Goldwater's first day in the convention city.

Chicago Bans Topless Suits

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago's City Council passed on Wednesday an ordinance banning topless bathing suits for women from the city's beaches and recreational areas.

"If we don't do this before the summer recess," Alderman Joseph P. Burke said, "we might have girls running naked all over the beaches."

Army Captain Is Convicted As Deserter

FRANKFURT, Germany — (UPI)—A U. S. Army captain who defected to the Communists in East Germany was found guilty of desertion and larceny Wednesday by a U. S. military court.

Capt. Alfred Svenson, 31, of Scranton, Pa., the first American officer court-martialed for defecting to the Communists in Europe, could get up to eight years' imprisonment. He will be sentenced Thursday.

Svenson rammed his jeep through Communist barbed wire into East Germany on May 4, 1963.

The Lithuanian-born tank officer was ushered back to the West by the Russians last May 7 after spending a year and three days in the East. The Communists said they expelled him for proving "unworthy of asylum."

Today Is Anniversary Of Battle Of Monocacy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signed Wednesday a bill designating Thursday as Monocacy battle centennial day to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the Civil War battle near Frederick, Md.

The bill also would authorize the U.S. Civil War Centennial Commission to cooperate with the Maryland Civil War Centennial Commission and the Frederick County Civil War Centennial, Inc., in observance of the anniversary.

Promptly after signing the bill, the President issued a proclamation making the designation.

Johnson's proclamation said the gallant stand of Union troops there delayed the Confederate march on Washington sufficiently to permit adequate reinforcement of the capital's defenses.

He requested government officials to display the flag on all government buildings in the District of Columbia at half staff until noon Thursday and at full staff after noon. He also urged citizens to honor those who fought in the battle, men of both North and South, as Americans.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Welfare Department announced approval Wednesday of seven projects totaling $4,682,685 in federal funds for maternity and infant care programs.

State health departments are providing a minimum of 25 percent of project costs to support the program.

Grants included: West Virginia State Department of Health, $98,537 and the Baltimore City Health Department, $484,567.

Ransom Asked For Missing Girl, 10

BALTIMORE (AP) — Hope Wright, a woman, speaking in a southern accent, reportedly told Mary's uncle, Mathew Engle, in a phone call demanding $20,000 in ransom.

The child, Mary Ott, has been missing from her home since last Wednesday when she was last seen playing in her back yard.

"We have Mary and she is all right," the woman said.

Hoch was placed under $1,000 bail by U.S. Commissioner Ernest Volkart.

LEESBURG, Va. (AP) — Hillendale Farm near Purcellville has been stopped from shipping milk into the District of Columbia because of traces of heptachlor found in milk samples, Loudoun County agents said.

Heptachlor is an insecticide used on alfalfa.

Hillendale is one of three dairy farms operated by Curtis Wilson. Normally, it ships about 250 gallons of milk a day.

This is the first Loudoun County farm against which such action has been taken by the District of Columbia. Fourteen farms in Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia previously had been stopped from shipping milk into the city.

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — Retired Col. Severn S. MacLaughlin, a veteran of both world wars, died Wednesday at the Army hospital here. He was 70.

MacLaughlin, who retired in 1948 after 30 years service in the Army, also taught military science and tactics at Westminster Maryland College at Westminster from 1934-35.

He lived at Westminster and was a past president of the town's Rotary Club.

His only survivor is his widow, Mrs. Florence H. L'Hote MacLaughlin. Funeral services will be held in Westminster Friday morning, with burial in Arlington National Cemetery.

Theft Of $48,000 Reported To Police

SEAT PLEASANT, Md. (AP) — Raymond W. Hubbard, 30, has reported the theft of $48,000, Prince Georges County police said Wednesday.

Detective Lt. Richard Pearson said Hubbard reported the missing cash included one $500 bill and 475 $100 bills.

In addition, the detective said, Hubbard reported the theft of a diamond-studded wedding band, two watches, 12 pairs of cufflinks and a 25-caliber pistol.

Hubbard told police he is co-owner of a grocery store and a restaurant in Washington. He told police the money was in the house because he had "a business transaction in the making."

Hope To Clear Civil Rights Records

BALTIMORE AP — The state interacial commission has asked Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan for suggestions on how to clear police records of persons arrested in civil rights demonstrations.

The commission asked Finan in a letter sent Wednesday for any ideas he had about possible action to take to remove such records which range from disorderly conduct to trespassing.

The police records had a bad effect on the demonstrators employment records, the commission said.

In view of the federal civil rights bill, the commission said it felt demonstrators should not be penalized for past actions.

Boat Speed Limit Termed Too Slow

BALTIMORE (AP) — The city solicitor was directed Wednesday to see if there is a way around a harbor speed law.

A hydrofoil boat brought to the harbor for excursion trips has had to stay in a berth because of a 55-year-old law imposing a speed limit of eight knots. The hydrofoil travels between 15 and 25.

The Baltimore Board of Estimates asked Joseph Allen, city solicitor, to search for a way of exempting the excursion craft.

The longest recorded dry spell in the U.S. lasted 767 days and took place at Bgddad, Calif., from Oct. 3, 1912 to Nov. 8, 1914.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Day By Day
For Real Beauty!

I wish more women were careful about the many ways in which they let little unconscious habits nibble away at their health. It's like letting a mouse nibble away at the cheese — it's gone before you know it! Just consider for a minute the number of girls among your acquaintance who slouch. Do you suppose they know they are courting figure distortion, indigestion, weak back, misplaced internal organs and many other serious conditions? If they did, I'm sure they would stand up straight — and pronto!

Don't gamble with your good health or take a chance on destroying your beauty in such careless and wasteful fashion. No one can begin too early in life to learn and to practice correct posture. Mothers who constantly remind their young to stand and sit erect are as right as they think they are! Teenagers who take such advice lightly won't know what they're missing until somebody else with more zip and vitality walks off with the football captain.

No one with bad posture can be expected to correct all faults at once. But you can slip into a beautiful carriage in easy steps if you follow the routine below. My system is guaranteed to help you acquire the posture that wins admiration, envy and respect wherever it is viewed!

On Monday, concentrate on pulling your abdomen in and tucking your hips under. Let Tuesday be the day you pull your waist out of your hips. For Wednesday, elevate your chest and let your shoulders fall relaxed. Carry your head high with your chin parallel to the floor on Thursday.

Then on Friday see how well you can put these steps all together! Each succeeding Friday, it will be easier to do. Then one lucky weekend you'll look in the mirror and find a lovely picture of your best self!

Until that great day, clip the above routine and paste it on your mirror. Let it be the last thing you look at each morning to remind you of what it's most important to do all day!

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., said Wednesday that Congress should either restrict the powers of the Supreme Court or "take more care in the selection of its membership." South took advantage of a defensive slip to land a vulnerable slam contract in today's hand.
South opened the bidding with one club and, over his partner's response of one spade, he rebid two hearts—known in the trade as a "reverse." This is a strength showing call inasmuch as it forces partner into the three level to show a mere preference for clubs. North had a sound holding and in order to show that he was not carrying on simply because South had shown a strong hand, he jumped to four hearts. South took charge at this point and drove to six hearts.

West opened the eight of diamonds and South won the trick with the queen. A spade was led to the ace and a trump was returned. Declarer put up the king from his hand and West played the ace. A diamond came back and was won by South. He cashed the ace of clubs and ruffed a club in dummy. The closed hand was reentered with a trump and another club was trumped with the nine of hearts. East was out of clubs, but he had no more trumps. South ruffed himself in with a spade, drew the last heart, cashed the king of clubs dropping West's queen and claimed the balance.
West could have defeated the slam if he had held off on the first heart lead for, if declarer leads a second trump, West can play the ace and another heart. South will be unable to establish his club suit. If, on the other hand, declarer leaves the trumps alone and tries to ruff clubs, East will overruff the dummy on the third round with ten of hearts.
West had no good return to make when he was in with the ace of hearts, and he should have retained his only control until such time as the proper course of action became clear.

Ann Landers ...

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am caught in the cross-fire between two lovely but temperamental bosses. I am very fond of them both but when they have an argument — which is about three times a week — I wind up in the middle.

Just this morning Mr. A. dictated a letter to be sent over Mr. B's signature. They had not spoken to each other for a couple of days and the tension in the office was terrific.

When I presented the letter to Mr. B. for his signature he exploded and pointed out 11 statements he could not "go along with." I had to serve as referee for two high-powered dynamos. It took five re-writes and three hours before both men were satisfied with the letter.

This job is a two-girl operation and I am the two girls. Any suggestions? — SINGED

DEAR SINGED: Yes. Tell the bosses they have two weeks to employ a second girl. They can draw lots to see which one gets you. If they are not agreeable, inform them that they will need two girls because you are leaving.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We have raised three fine daughters, all now happily married. Our youngest, Valerie, is 17 and giving us nothing but heartache.

Valerie has gone with at least a dozen fine, wholesome young men with good family backgrounds. They are the leading athletes and scholars in her school, but she says they are dull and boring. Valerie has now decided to go steady with a good-for-nothing smart aleck who dropped out of school in March and spends most of his time leaning against the post office with his thumbs hooked in his pockets. Last night she said she thought maybe she would marry him.

We can think of 12 good reasons why Valerie shouldn't even go out with him, much less consider marriage. Shall we forbid her to see him while she lives in this house, or let her see him and make a mess of her life? — DON'T KNOW WHICH WAY TO TURN

DEAR DON'T KNOW: Valerie might make a mess of her life no matter what you do. She is obviously filled with rebellion and determined to do whatever displeases you most.

If you forbid her to see the boy she would probably meet him on the sly and wind up running off because you "forced her into it." My advice is to stop knocking the boy. The less you attack, the less she will be compelled to defend him. And try to show extra friendliness — to both Valerie and the smart-aleck, if it kills you. You may see a change in her attitude. You have nothing to lose and everything to gain.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was touched by the letter from the kids who had forgotten their mother's birthday. Mom was silent for awhile then she opened up and let the whole family know how hurt she was.

Will you please educate folks to the idea that there are other gifts besides the ones which can be bought in a store? To my way of thinking, the greatest gift of all is the gift of service. For example: The children could write down on a piece of paper their pledge to do the dinner dishes for one week. Each child could have his assignment so the duties would be delegated. Dad might even agree to bring Mom her breakfast in bed one Sunday. The gift of service, well thought out, and agreed to in advance, can bring the greatest pleasure of all, and it is endless. I hope you will pass this along.

MRS. BOB thanks for your message — (by Western Union yet). I am passing it along, for millions to see, and adding my own endorsement.

Parents are people — they can be right and they can be wrong. To help understand their viewpoint and to promote harmony at home, write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Copyright 1964. Publishers Newspaper Syndicate

Bids Are Sought For Reservoir Work Near Bloomington

The Baltimore District, Army Corps of Engineers, is seeking bids on some preliminary work for the proposed Bloomington reservoir, according to Army spokesman, who said opening date for the bids is July 28. Approximate value of the work is $25,000, and called for is foundation exploring which consists of the drilling of about 60 holes at an average depth of 75 feet.

The drilling is to be done along the banks of the North Branch of the Potomac River, upstream from Bloomington. The work is scheduled to commence within 10 calendar days of acceptance of the bid, and the project is to be completed within 45 calendar days.

The reservoir will have a surface area of 1,025 acres and a 17-mile shoreline. Its capacity, which will include flood control storage, will be more than 44 billion gallons of water, Army engineers estimate.

The impoundment will be located about two miles above the confluence of the North Branch with Savage River and will extend upstream seven miles to Shaw, W. Va.

Estimated cost of the reservoir is $50,000,000. Army engineers state, of which more than $36,000,000 will be in federal funds. The dam will have a concrete section with an earth wing for a total length of 1,900 feet. The top of the dam will be 287 feet above the stream bed, according to engineers.

The impoundment will supply water for municipal and industrial purposes, with U.S. Senator

J. Glenn Beall terming the project as vital to industrial expansion of this region. Engineers claim the Bloomington project will maintain a water quality adequate for the North Branch until the 1990s.

Aside from its flood control factor, the Bloomington dam also will provide recreation in the form of camping, swimming, boating and picnicking.

Retired Policeman Gets Award In Accident Case

John G. Powers, retired Cumberland police officer, has been granted a supplemental award of $16,000 by the Maryland Workman's Compensation Commission.

Hearings were held by the state agency on the claimant's petition to re-open the case on the following issues:

Nature and extent of disability. The commission, having granted the claimant's petition to re-open, finds that the claimant, as a result of the accidental injury of March 13, 1959, has become permanently totally disabled; 80 per cent of such disability is reasonably attributable to the accidental injury of March 13, 1959, and 20 per cent is due to a pre-existing condition.

The award is dated to start as of May 1, 1959, subject to a credit for payments made for permanent partial disability of an order dated March 22, 1960.

Mr. Powers was injured in a fall at the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company parking lot in 1959 while he was employed by the A&P firm on a part-time basis.

The award was signed by Commissioner Francis J. Valle of the state agency. Simon F. Reilly and Milton Gerson were attorneys for Mr. Powers.

Court Dismisses Count In Hoffa Fraud Trial

CHICAGO (UPI)—U.S. District Court Judge Richard B. Austin said Wednesday he would dismiss a count in the $25 million James R. Hoffa fraud trial charging mail fraud in Teamster union loans on a Miami, Fla., hotel.

The count, one of 28 in an indictment returned by a federal grand jury June 4, 1963, charged mail fraud in a $1 million loan on the New Everglades Hotel, owned by developer Vaughan B. Connelly. Connelly was a key government witness during the 11-week-old trial.

Austin's disclosure came during a day devoted to defense arguments for directed verdicts of acquittal of Hoffa and seven co-defendants. The government rested its case Tuesday.

Hoffa's chief defense attorney, Maurice Walsh, told Austin "the evidence is not sufficient to prove there was any conspiracy to defraud the fund. Some of the government's evidence came from a liar by the name of Vaughan B. Connelly."

Austin ordered the defense to begin its case immediately after conclusion of the arguments for acquittal.

Previously, Austin indicated he would dismiss three other counts.

Hoffa and the co-defendants are charged with conspiring to obtain $25 million in loans from the pension fund through fraudulent means and of diverting $1.7 million of the money to their own purposes.

Maximum penalty for conviction on each of the fraud counts would be five years in prison and $10,000 fine. Conviction on the conspiracy count would mean up to five years imprisonment and $10,000 fine.

Pope Plans Trip

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Vatican sources said Wednesday that Pope Paul VI plans to go to Orvieto, about 60 miles north of Rome, on Aug. 11 to commemorate the 700th anniversary of the institution of the Corpus Christi religious feast.

PACIFIST SENTENCED—Russell Goddard, 20, of St. Louis, was sentenced to five years in prison for refusing to serve in the Armed Forces. U. S. District Judge Roy W. Harper's sentencing of Goddard triggered an outburst by two companions, who were dragged from the courtroom by U. S. marshals. When the two returned, they were given six-month jail terms each on contempt of court charges. (AP Photofax).

Thousands Of Scorpions Plague Victims Of Quake

COYUCA DE CATALAN, Coahuila City with the seriously injured. A major problem was finding safe accommodation for the many barefoot survivors of the quake which caused heavy destruction in a four-state area of Mexico.

Torrential rains beat down on the stricken area for the third straight day, turning rural roads to mud and hindering medical teams and rescue crews searching for more dead and injured.

The official death toll remained at 31 for Guerrero state, the hardest hit of the four, with reports yet to be received from neighboring Michoacan, Morelos and Mexico states. More than 100,000 were reported homeless.

Mercy flights flew in anti-scorpion serum and emergency supplies and returned to Mexico.

U.S. Announces Sharp Cutback In Borrowing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Treasury announced Wednesday a sharp cutback in the amount of money it intends to borrow during the next three months. It said the reduction resulted because of an improvement of more than $2 billion in the government's cash position.

Robert V. Roosa, undersecretary of the Treasury, said the cash improvement resulted primarily from a reduction in expenditures. He said, "We are reasonably certain that these are lasting gains—they will not be replaced by additional expenditures later in the fiscal year."

In April, Roosa had announced tentative plans for borrowing about $4 billion in mid-July. He said this will be cut to one billion to 2 billion through September, and that the only immediate borrowing will be in the form of increases of $100 million a week in weekly Treasury bills.

Notes On GOP Convention

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The arrival of the candidates, Gov. William W. Scranton and Sen. Barry Goldwater, should give this Republican convention zip that has been lacking.

Normally by this time a convention has become chaotic and is steadily worsening.

But without live candidates to cheer and jeer, everything has stayed wonderfully peaceful and civilized. No bands blaring away relentlessly into the night. No calliope moaning. No surging crowds.

History was made here 44 years ago. The Pacific Telephone Co. reports that it installed the first public address system ever used at a convention, when the Democrats nominated James J. Cox in San Francisco's Civic Auditorium in 1920. The phone officials offered no comment on the well-known political fact that although you can turn up the volume so a delegate can hear, you still can't make him listen.

It has been mentioned many times before, but one more explanation won't hurt. Cow Palace got the odd name because a headline writer used it in derision. It stuck because it fits. The Cow Palace actually is a mammoth barn and it's run by a division of the State Department of Agriculture.

San Francisco is a city of variety, and this extends to its pickets. So far we have had pickets who were against Goldwater, who were for Goldwater, who were against Chief Justice Earl Warren, who were for Ringo, the Beatles, and who were against the Supreme Court's decision on prayer. One poor fellow has an unusually tough chore. In a city with some of the finest restaurants in the world, he is plumping for vegetarianism.

Oldest Airman Re-Enlists At 72

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP)—M. Sgt. Roy Baxter, oldest Reserve in the U.S. Air Force, re-enlisted Wednesday for a six-year hitch. Baxter is 72.

Not only does he want another Reserve term, he intends to petition President Johnson to allow him to return to active duty.

Baxter enlisted in the old Army Air Force in 1942 at age 50. He did it to avenge the death of his pilot son, Roy Jr. who was shot down in the Pacific.

Baxter operates a land-developing company and gravel business. But he never misses his weekly drills with the 916th Air Force Reserve Recovery Squadron.

Garrett Man Wins Professional Award

A University of Maryland graduate assistant in agricultural engineering has brought back from Colorado a first-place national award for his original research with "LP-gas engines."

John W. Hummel of Grantsville presented a paper before the annual meeting of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers, Fort Collins, on how fuel charge temperatures affect the performance of an LP (liquefied petroleum)—gas engine.

Representing the North Atlantic section of the professional society, 23-year old Hummel from Garrett County vied with two other finalists to win the honor for Maryland U. and a cash award for himself. Competition was open to agricultural engineering students at 47 universities of the United States and Canada.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's major domestic airlines had net profits of more than $26 million during the first five months of the year, the Air Transport Association (ATA) reported Wednesday.

ATA's monthly financial report on the airline industry said the trunklines netted about $7.1 million in May, compared with a net loss of $1.5 million in the same month of last year.

Value of production was up in most minerals, running from crude petroleum and iron ore to zinc, asbestos and natural gas. Decreases were shown for gold, nickel and uranium.

OTTAWA (UPI) — Canadian mineral production reached a record $3,003,410,000 in 1963, a boost of 5.33 per cent over the previous year, the Bureau of Statistics reported Wednesday.

JOHN W. HUMMEL

"Cooling the fuel charge increases the fuel flow and consequently steps up the power output of the engine," John discovered in his research project that began in an agricultural engineering course and took a semester to complete.

The June graduate says that "LP-gas engines, popular in the Midwest, are used in tractors and irrigation pumps."

Pointing out that the propane and butane mixture—like gas used in stoves—"burns cleaner than gasoline, causing lower maintenance costs of machinery," Hummel also notes, "LP-gas is more expensive to buy and is not yet widely used in Maryland."

One of five children of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey W. Hummel who operate a 240-acre dairy farm, John is beginning studies this fall toward his master of science degree. He hopes someday to do research and development work for the government or private industry.

His next research project at the College Park campus, "Studying the physical properties of Maryland tobacco," he says.

Stones May Hold Clues About Lost Colony

By CHARLES S. TAYLOR
GAINESVILLE, Ga. (UPI)—A pile of stones once thought to be the key to a fascinating historical mystery — the fate of Sir Walter Raleigh's Lost Colony — lies forgotten today in a storeroom at Brenau College.

They are the Eleanor Dare Stones. In the late 1930s they made front page headlines across the country, only to sink into obscurity when doubt was cast on their authenticity. Twenty-six years after the first stone was found, most of the tablets on which crude Elizabethan English is scrawled are in the dark basement of a Brenau College building.

A public relations specialist for the college said, "They're stacked up in a corner of an old storeroom." She said she had never heard of the stones until a newsman requested information about them.

At least one of the stones, which some historians still say is authentic, is under the lock and key of Brenau College President Josiah Crudup.

In 1937, a tourist from California noticed a small rock sticking out of the mud on the banks of the Chowan River in North Carolina — about 50 miles from the original site of the Lost Colony.

Close inspection revealed this inscription under the cross: "Ananias Dare and Virginia went hence unto heaven 1591—any Englishman shew John White govt Via." The inscription was signed "Eleanor Dare."

That discovery was the beginning of an amazing and controversial chapter of American historical research. In the next three years, 46 other inscribed stones, all purportedly dealing with the fate of the "Lost Colony" of Roanoke Island, were found in the Saluda River Valley of South Carolina and the Chattahoochee River Valley of Georgia.

For more than three centuries, the fate of the colony Sir Walter Raleigh established on Roanoke Island in 1587 has been a mystery. After the settlers were housed and the colony rooted, Governor John White sailed back to England for supplies. His arrival coincided with a general mobilization of all English ships for protection against the Spanish Armada. It was four years before Queen Elizabeth would permit his return to the New World.

When he returned to Roanoke Island, White found not a trace of the settlement he had left. The sole possible clue to the fate of the settlers was the word "Croatan" carved on a tree trunk.

White, after a search of the area, returned to England and reported all members of the colony lost — including his daughter, Eleanor White Dare, her husband Ananias Dare, and their baby daughter, Virginia, the first English child born in America.

The California tourist who found the stone in North Carolina took it to Atlanta and turned it over to Brenau College officials. Another inscription was found on the reverse side. It told of the escape of 61 colonists from Roanoke Island and their flight through the wilderness to escape marauding Indians, who finally killed all but seven. The dead were buried on a "small hill," the stone said, and their graves marked with similarly-carved stones.

The following spring, 1938, nine more stones were found in South Carolina. They told of hardship and Indian attacks and said the surviving colonists had decided to travel inland toward the country of the friendly Cherokees.

Months later, the trail was picked up again — this time in the Chattahoochee River Valley of North Georgia. Stones were found scattered along the valley down to the site of a big Cherokee village. The stones said Eleanor and the surviving colonists dwelt at peace. Eleanor married an Indian king and bore him a daughter, according to a message on one rock.

All the stones were collected at Brenau College and a call was sent out to historians and scientists to verify their authenticity.

Dr. S. E. Morison, president of the American Antiquarian Society, along with a group of historians, examined them. They gave them a qualified blessing and said "the preponderance of evidence points to the authenticity of the Dare Stones." But they recommended additional research before any "final, conclusive statement" was issued.

This final statement was never issued. Shortly afterward, published articles cast strong doubts as to the authenticity of the stones and they faded from public interest.

Even after this, Georgia Tech Professor Count Gibson, head of the school's geology department, examined three of the tablets in the collection and said that as far as he and his colleagues could tell they had not been tampered with for decades.

The stones, however, were taken off display at Brenau College and ended up in a storeroom, neglected, and half-forgotten with the fate of the Lost Colony remaining the fascinating mystery it has always been.

China Mainland Open To Tourists

FRANKFURT, Ger. (UPI) — The publicly owned German Travel Bureau announced Wednesday it has signed an agreement with Communist Chinese tourist authorities for German holiday-makers to make "package tours" of the Chinese mainland.

The travel agency, largely owned by West Germany's government-operated railways, said Germans will be able to sign up for three-week tours of Communist China costing less than $8,000 marks ($2,000).

Blast Rocks Town

BOMBAY, India (UPI) — A mysterious explosion Wednesday rocked the town of Aurangabad, killing 20 persons, injuring 30 others and destroying a dozen houses.

The explosion occurred in the thickly populated center of the town, which is 150 miles east of Bombay.

54 Biggest Guns, Loaded And Aimed

Scattered throughout the American landscape are 54 "guns" which bear the brunt of United States defense systems. There is nothing at all conventional about them, but then no other 54 guns could do an infinitesimal fraction of the job the Titan II intercontinental ballistic missile can.

Capable of being launched from under ground silos in less than one minute, each Titan is zeroed in on a vital enemy target. None can be fired without an explicit order from the President. The 18,000-miles-per-hour speed of the missile places it within less than one-half-hour striking time of any city within its 6,300-mile range.

The 103-foot-tall, two-stage missile, like its airborne counterpart, the Strategic Air Command, is constantly on a 24-hour alert. Surprise alerts are the rule; each crew's work is standardized to the point of perfection.

Most of the silos are neither visible nor known to the public. Each is located in a desolate area to minimize exposure of populated areas to attack. But the air-conditioned, multi-stories cavern in the ground contains one of the most potent weapons ever designed by man.

Weapons of mass destruction they are, weapons capable of wiping entire cities off the map. But each one is an insurance policy against such weapons ever being employed by anyone. It is this difference which makes them stand out above similar missiles located behind the iron curtain and aimed in this direction.

Admittedly, a defense system based upon wholesale retaliation leaves something to be desired. But who ever heard of a burglar stupid enough to break in the front door when he knew in advance defenders with guns drawn were sitting in the parlor waiting for him?

These Days

A Trivial Issue

As this column is being written, the Scranton push for delegates has not started a prairie fire. Indeed, as the old Taft "horse's mouth" who was quoted recently in this space predicted, the result of the last-minute Scranton scramble has been to polarize the delegates prematurely, pushing hitherto uncommitted people into the Goldwater column and merely distributing Rockefeller men (who would have gone that way anyway) into the Scranton column.

But this, so another old Taft man tells me, is not the end of the anti-Goldwater push. "There is every indication that there will be a duplication of the '52 convention in '64," this man says. "Before convention time, Taft looked like a sure winner. He was extremely confident. His opponent, Eisenhower, was a reluctant pawn in the hands of the Dewey Easterners; his TV appearances were almost ruinous and he gave the impression he didn't much care."

"However, the real politician doesn't go to bed before all the votes are counted. Truman taught this lesson to Dewey and Dewey was going to teach it to Taft. In a state of affairs where it appeared that Ike had no chance, Dewey felt that if respective delegate strength could be tested by going before the convention on some trivial question, Ike's position could not be possibly worsened if he lost, but on the other hand a victory — or even a good showing — would win over unknown numbers of unpledged or genuinely undecided delegates."

"Dewey had not plucked this 'trivial question' plan out of thin air. It began to formulate in his mind after a fight broke out over the legality of the convention credentials of two rival delegations from Texas. Ike people knew that Taft would win on this question when brought before the Credentials Committee, but they also knew that they would have the right to appeal the committee's decision to the full convention and secure a roll-call vote."

"After the committee decided for the Taft delegation, and the Ike people gave notice of appeal, Taft instinctively sought to avoid a convention fight on this question. However, during these crucial hours he held no skull sessions and being 'possessed' by no one, made every move on his own. It was he alone who decided to compromise by offering the Ike people half of the Texas delegation, which was happily refused. They had planned this 'trivial question' fight and now they were going to get it. Taft, confident as ever, asking no advice, decided to fight out the Texas question before the full convention the next day."

"That evening I met a man who was considered to be one of the country's leading professional political strategists. He told me he had been paid a fee to quarterback the Taft team but that he had been invited to no strategy meeting—if any were held. As we sat over a drink in the Blackstone he said glumly that Taft had not needed one single Texas delegate to get the nomination, and that he had tried unsuccessfully so to advise the Taft camp, and that he had recommended, to deaf ears, that the entire Texas delegation be given to Ike. Such action, he told me, would simply amount to surrendering delegates that were not needed but would automatically force a dropping of the appeal Ike's people so badly wanted."

"The rest is history. Greater harm resulted from the Taft campaign than his own loss of the nomination. From that day forward the Republican Party rent itself in two: Ike Republicans and Taft Republicans. Discounting Ike's election to two terms, like General Grant's these were not partisan victories but non-partisan tribute to a war hero. The partisan test came when Nixon ran. Lacking the Taft-Republican vote, he lost."

"If Goldwater is nominated he will not have the support of the Rocky-Scranton groups. This is a precise situation in which the principle of ruin or rule will be invoked. I feel that if Barry gets over the hurdle of the nomination he knows that his only chance for election will be on grounds that appeal to individuals rather than political parties."

If this man is right, the "trivial issue" will appear at San Francisco. The Goldwater test will be how to avoid a collision course on something not worth fighting about.

It Takes Two To Lay The Cornerstone

Protest Vote Unknown Quantity In Election

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Is President Johnson going to win the election easily, or is there a possibility that Senator Goldwater, if nominated on the Republican ticket next week, might prove a surprise and bring either a close result or even a victory? These questions are being discussed every day now not only by politicians but by those people generally who do not put too much faith in public-opinion polls.

The truth is that the election will turn very largely on the extent of a protest vote throughout the United States. It need not necessarily be a nationwide protest, but it could swing whole sections where there are large blocs of electoral votes.

What are the causes of the protest vote today? There are factors such as unemployment which will influence local areas, but there are other issues even more active in producing negative votes—namely, the reaction of the people toward foreign policy, especially the casualties in Vietnam, and toward government interference with what have always been considered to be private rights in American life.

The biggest unknown quantity today is the protest vote over what is being called the "civil wrongs" issue. There are millions of people who are afraid that the Democratic Party has embarked on a course which will intrude in the private lives of the citizens and that an enormous expense is about to be incurred to enforce the new law.

Perhaps the most striking example of a protest vote that is building up rapidly is in what is known as the "open occupancy" issue. Curiously enough, this does not involve something which Congress has done, but concerns laws passed in many cities and in such states as New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Colorado, Alaska, Oregon and California. While the laws vary in their provisions, the objective is "open occupancy" under housing laws which prevent the owner of a property from selling to whomever he pleases, with the result that property owners in a neighborhood may see real-estate values drop because of the enforced admission of people who cause some owners to sell their property and move away. There are more than 32 million homeowners in America—a sizable voting group.

There are also approximately 600,000 licensed real-estate salesmen in the United States, and many of them are disturbed by the state laws. Not long ago, Ed Mendenhall, the president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, issued a statement in which he said:

"Fortunately, the American public seems to be awakening at last to the threat of forced housing laws, as real estate boards and others point out how they shatter the cherished human right of private property ownership, despite the emotional appeals of many well-meaning but unthinking people."

"Four recent actions illustrate how the tide is turning dramatically as the public begins to comprehend the specifics of the too-often deceptive catch phrases of 'fair housing' and 'anti-bias laws'."

Mr. Mendenhall pointed out that just a few months ago voters in Seattle, Wash., emphatically rejected a forced-housing ordinance by a two-to-one margin in a referendum, and that Tacoma, Wash., a month earlier crushed a similar proposal by a three-to-one vote. He mentioned that the Rhode Island House of Representatives turned down a forced-housing bill by a two-to-one margin, and that last December the Wisconsin Legislature voted down a similar bill with the same decisiveness.

There are important referendum votes coming up in November in Illinois and California on the same issue. Mr. Mendenhall expressed confidence that the voters in those two states would reject forced housing by the same impressive votes.

While the federal government hasn't anything to do with local housing laws, it is noted that the recently passed "civil rights" law grants to a federal commission authority to investigate racial discrimination of any kind, and if this information is not forthcoming police powers may be used to obtain it. The mere fact that such an investigating commission exists has served notice on many people that what the states have already tried to do might subsequently be accentuated by federal government action.

There are, of course, other factors of discontent in the electorate today, but the real-estate issue is cited as an example of something that has been going on under the surface in many parts of the country. There are evidences that the protest vote is larger than has hitherto been estimated, and this has given rise to a belief that maybe the election will not, after all, be a pushover for the Administration.

At present, this "Rule 22" provides that Senate debate can be limited when two-thirds of the Senators present vote for it. As a practical matter, this means that 67 of the Senate's 100 members must favor cloture.

However, there's discussion going on that when the Senate meets in January, a move may be made to ease the vote-limiting provision. The talk is to provide that debate can be limited if three-fifths of the Senators so vote. This means that a filibuster could be broken if 60 of the 100 Senate members favor doing so.

The difference of seven votes doesn't seem like a great deal, but it is significant in the light of the present make-up of the Senate, where, for a lack of three or four Senate votes, the filibuster had the strength to continue until it had established an all-time record in the very talkative body.

EMBARRASSING MOMENT — One of the administration's top experts on Asian affairs attended a dinner at which he was introduced to an admiral whose name he didn't quite get. Their conversation drifted around to Asian affairs and the civilian expert found himself at odds with his dinner neighbor on virtually every point he was trying to make.

Finally, with as much sarcasm as these affairs would permit, the expert haughtily remarked, "I really should spend more time with you. Perhaps I could learn something about Asia."

A while later the dinner broke up and the expert asked another guest the name of the admiral he had been talking to. It turned out to be Adm. Arthur W. Radford, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and former commander-in-chief of U.S. forces in the Pacific.

FILIBUSTER BACKLASH—The now-ended filibuster over civil rights legislation in the Senate may have a lasting effect in an area that will hurt the filibusters most. There's active talk favoring a liberalization of the Senate rule under which the filibuster is broken.

Scranton Strategists Want Secret Ballot Of Delegates To Convention

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Scranton strategists have a move up their sleeve which they believe could swing a lot of delegates away from Goldwater. It is to require all delegates to vote in secret in deciding which candidate their state will support.

Behind this proposal is word leaking to Scranton forces from various state delegations that Goldwater managers are playing rough and tough; that they are cracking down economically on any delegate who appears to be leaning toward Scranton. They accuse Goldwater of sandbagging delegates with the most ruthless pressures used in any Presidential convention in recent years.

But if delegates could ballot secretly, it's believed they would not worry about political punishment and a lot would leave Goldwater for Scranton.

False Civil Rights Rumors Under Secretary of Commerce Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., called on President Johnson the other day to give him a disturbing report on the impact of the Civil Rights law in the North.

In Northern cities, FDR Jr., reported, there was a drift away from the Democratic party because of a rumor that the Civil Rights law would require all employers to hire 25 per cent Negroes. Word has spread that employers would be required by the new law to fire part of their working force in order to employ 25 per cent Negroes.

The White House is considering an educational program to rectify some of these false rumors.

Voluntary Civil Rights

Most people don't realize it, but long before the Civil Rights law was passed, Presidents Kennedy and Johnson had both been working with Southern leaders to prepare for the impact of the law.

During the past year, letters were sent by the White House to leaders in 366 cities; and about 70 per cent of these cities have now put across some form of desegregation, including lunch counter desegregation, in 344 cities; theaters in 294 cities; hotels and motels in 254 cities.

A total of 21 meetings was held by Administration leaders with over 1,500 in the South, and these meetings were followed up with letters to inquire about local progress in race relations.

All this paved the way for the work of ex-Governor Leroy Collins of Florida, head of the new Community Relations Service, and for Arthur Dean, Wall Street lawyer, now chairman of the National Advisory Committee on Civil Rights.

The Justice Department Civil Rights Division believes that passage of the bill will encourage integration in areas where the owners were afraid to integrate for fear of economic reprisals from white customers. The law will now give them an excuse to comply with it.

Prayer In Schools

Biggest flop Congress has seen in years was that "prayer" amendment to the Constitution, proposed by Rep. Frank Becker, R-N.Y., to overturn the Supreme Court ban on any denominational prayer in public schools.

House Judiciary Chairman Manny Celler of Brooklyn has now put the bill in mothballs, after leading church spokesmen of all faiths opposed it as a threat to religious freedom. Rep. Becker wouldn't have got more than ten or twelve votes out of the 35 Judiciary Committee members if he demanded a roll call. So he didn't.

Even former Republican supporters, such as Rep. Richard Poff of Virginia, have backed away from Becker's bill. In addition, eight or ten house members have taken their names off the petition to discharge it from the Judiciary Committee. They got cold feet when letters to Congress from the general public turned substantially against the Becker measure.

By Drew Pearson

Since labor in Northern cities has generally voted Democratic, it was feared this would mean a shift toward Goldwater.

Real fact is, however, that there's no such provision in the Civil Rights law. On the contrary, Section J of the Equal Opportunity provision states: "Nothing contained in this title shall be interpreted to require any employer, employment agency, or labor organization to grant preferential treatment to any individual or to any group because of the race, color, religion, sex, or national origin of such individual or group on account of an imbalance which may exist with respect to the total number or percentage of persons . . . in comparison with the total number of persons of such race, etc. in any state."

This means that an employer who now uses all white workers in a community having a large percentage of Negroes would not have to fire a percentage of whites in order to hire Negroes. But he would have to avoid discrimination in hiring new workers.

The Civil Rights law actually makes it unlawful for an employer to advertise in newspapers or elsewhere indicating any preference for a Negro or for any race, color, religion, sex, or national origin.

The White House is considering an educational program to rectify some of these false rumors.

POOR CIRCULATION TO BRAIN

O. K. writes: My doctor put me in a hospital and the insurance form said "cerebral ischemia." What is the common name of this condition?

REPLY: Ischemia means disturbed blood flow to a part. I assume you had a condition in which the brain received too little nourishment. Poor circulation in the cerebral arteries is the most common cause.

NOISY BREATHING

Mrs. G. writes: Please explain stridor in a child and how it is treated.

REPLY: Stridor is noisy or crowing breathing, especially during inspiration. It usually is associated with spasm or narrowing of the air passageway through the throat, larynx, or the windpipe. Treatment depends upon the cause of the obstruction. Moist, warm air, for example, helps stridor due to croup.

SYPHILIS ERUPTION

B. M. W. writes: I always thought anyone with syphilis would be covered with sores. Recently I was told this is not so. Please set me straight.

REPLY

Skin lesions develop in the secondary stage of syphilis. Nowadays, this venereal disease is treated successfully during the primary stage so that the sores you mention do not develop.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Finnigan's Hollywood

BY JOSEPH FINNIGAN

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Guest columnist Lucille Ball gives some advice to June graduates who have creative writing and other goals in mind.)

By LUCILLE BALL
(Written for UPI)

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Just a short while ago I was invited to speak to the student body of the University of California at Los Angeles as part of the presentation ceremony at the 10th annual Samuel Goldwyn creative writing awards.

What is a former Goldwyn girl supposed to say on the subject of creative writing to an auditorium filled with June graduates? Well, the one thing I felt I could do was give these youngsters an idea of what has helped me in my own life—and just hope they wouldn't think me too square.

Being in the position I am today I certainly know some of the pit-falls that young people worry about. They are just a little bit apprehensive about the world outside the gates of their alma mater.

I feel sincerely that one of the most important things to do is to recognize all the small successes along the way and not let that one big goal be so bright and shiny that it blinds everything on the way to it.

No Immediate Success
Wouldn't it be nice if I could

Sends Condolences

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson expressed deep sorrow Wednesday over the death of Roy E. Davidson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. He sent Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz to Cleveland to represent him at the union leader's funeral.

Board Receives Canal Complaint

Ross F. Shaw, Oldtown, wrote the Allegany County Board of Commissioners that rats, mosquitoes and other insects along the old C&O Canal pose a health hazard.

Commissioner Russell Carder suggested the letter be turned over to Edwin Dale, superintendent of the C&O Canal in this area. Commissioner Robert Little Ebert said that another letter should be written to the County Health Department asking that the complaint be checked.

Getting Back From Moon May Be A Problem

ELKINS, W. Va. (UPI) — Astronaut Neil Armstrong told a crowd here Tuesday night the biggest headache for America's space team was getting a man back from the moon once he's up there.

Speaking before his departure to Washington from Elkins Airport, Armstrong, one of two civilians in the space program, said America hopes to complete a round-trip to the moon by 1970.

He said the first American to visit the moon would spend a day there but would not be allowed to bring back souvenirs because they would be excess baggage.

The moon trip will be fully recorded by television and radio, he said.

Earlier, the astronaut spoke of some of the intricacies of his training to some 100 boys attending the National Youth Science Camp near Green Bank, Pocahontas County.

"Those boys are intelligent... it kept me on my toes keeping ahead of them," Armstrong said.

Armstrong, who has piloted the X-15 rocket ship in addition to serving as a pilot during the Korean War, had been out of military service for 12 years before being selected to undergo astronaut training in 1962.

Area Counties' Fair Exhibits Are Called Off

SHEPHERDSTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — Plans for a $12,000 exhibit by eight eastern counties at the West Virginia Pavilion at the New York World's Fair were abandoned Wednesday.

A spokesman said the group planning the exhibit received a letter from Commerce Commissioner Koder Collision that it would be "next to impossible" to provide rent-free space for the exhibit.

Following a meeting Wednesday at Shepherd College, the spokesman disclosed that the group had proceeded with the plan because Collision had said earlier such space would be available.

The spokesman said more than $2,000 already received in donations would be refunded to persons in Jefferson, Morgan, Berkeley, Hampshire, Harard, Grant, Mineral and Pendleton counties.

Russians Accused Of Anti-Semitism

GENEVA (AP) — The International Commission of Jurists on Wednesday accused the Soviet Union of conducting a violent campaign of anti-Semitism and said that Jews are being made the scapegoats for widespread economic corruption.

In a 45-page report on economic crimes in the Soviet Union the commission said that "the real truth is a veritable cancer in the vitals of ideology—capitalistic corruption even within the party and in local economic administration."

"These unpalatable facts explain the severity of the laws on economic crimes. It is a tragedy for the Soviet Jewish people that they have been made the scapegoat for the transgressions of those whose guilt it would be dangerous to make public."

Flood Danger Unlikely At Westernport

WESTERNPORT — Mayor Ray L. Will reported Monday night that he has been assured that the Georges Creek channel relocation in connection with the Route 36 project will not produce possible flood danger.

The mayor and Horace Whitworth, town attorney, conferred with John D. Busby, district engineer of the State Roads Commission; and Al Wilson of the Phoenix Construction Company and other representatives who stated that studies disclose the new channel was adequate for any expected run-off, barring any extra situations similar to the 1936 flood.

While investigating the creek channel, the group discovered a rock and dirt accumulation lodged in the areaway under the Western Maryland Railway bridge in the same vicinity which they felt may produce a hazard, and decided to call it to the attention of the railway.

The channel of the creek bed is adjoining and parallel to Front and Main Streets.

Council decided that Riordan Road from the junction of Likens Street to Fisher's Alley cannot be entered from Kolberg's Hill. Action was taken to alleviate traffic on Riordan Road.

A new police car was purchased from Jake's Service Station which presented the lowest bid of $1,400 for a Studebaker V-8, including a trade-in on a 1961 Dodge.

An order was authorized for 250 feet of four-inch cast iron pipe for a sewer on Likens Street.

Council discussed the most feasible solution for an arrangement of pickup sewers from properties on the lower side of Walnut, V. e. and Hammond Streets. They will have to be erected over the hill to the new road of Route 125 and connected to the sewer on Front Street. Further study was indicated.

Employees Of Paper Mill To Get Election Booklet

LUKE — "Good government doesn't just happen. It becomes a reality when all citizens take an active interest in politics, by working for the party of their choice and by expressing their beliefs at the polls."

This is the theme of a message by David L. Luke, III, president of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, carried on the back cover of a non-partisan booklet of political facts and figures being mailed today to the homes of all employees of the company.

"The 1964 American Voter," published by the Century Press of Toledo, Ohio, contains a wealth of information about the coming national conventions of the two major political parties and the general election in November. The booklet is printed on paper manufactured by the company.

"It is our hope that each employee of the company and adult member of his family will study the issues in the local, state and federal campaigns this year and will cast his ballot in the elections to be held in November," Mr. Luke wrote to employees.

"The right to vote is too precious a privilege for anyone to waste," Mr. Luke observed in his letter. "Please use it by supporting the candidates of your individual choice."

Distribution of the booklet is one phase of the company's program to heighten the interest of its employees in politics and government.

200 Feminine Athletes Vie On West Coast

Victors To Face Russian Squad

By HAL WOOD
UPI Sports Writer

HANFORD, Calif. (UPI)—The women's National AAU track and field meet, designed this year to pick two performers in each event for the Russian meet, opens Thursday night with the girls' division holding the center of the stage.

More than 200 feminine athletes from coast-to-coast will be competing—not only to gain a spot on the United States team against Russia, but to sharpen up for the Olympic trials next month in New York.

There isn't anything resembling a Wilma Rudolph, winner of three Olympic gold medals in 1960 at Rome, in this group. But most of the young athletes are better than those in the 1960 trials.

"The trouble," says Mrs. Roxanne Anderson, a San Francisco coach, "is that the girl athletes in other countries are improving, too."

Thursday's competition will be limited to qualifying rounds for the girls' division. Friday morning and evening will be the girls' finals; and Saturday morning and evening the women's division qualifying and finals are slated.

Many of the 18-and-under youngsters are expected to be good enough to whip the entries in the women's senior division when the final rounds of competition get under way.

Veterans On Hand

However, such veterans as Edith McGuire and Vivian Brown of Tennessee State, the sprint queens now that Miss Rudolph has retired; Earlene Brown, the 220-pound shot-put ace from the Compton, Calif., Track Club; and discuss throwing star Olga Connelly of Los Angeles, are on hand.

Janell Smith, a young star from Fredonia, Kan., looks like the top entrant in the 440-yard run. She has a best time of 54.8 seconds—which is a pending American record. Carol Masterson of the Los Angeles Marquettes, has the best clocking in this year in the 880 at 2:12.8—but that's nearly three seconds slower than the time required to even get into the Olympics.

The best time in the 80-meters hurdles has been posted by Rosie Bonds of the Pasadena Athletic Club at 11.1. An 11.2 by Cherrie Sherrard of San Francisco, is close.

It takes a leap of 5-7 to meet the Olympic standards in the high jump and only one Yankee lass has topped that mark this year—Eleanor Montgomery of Cleveland, who has a best of 5-8.

The best bets in the javelin appear to be Gloria Wilcox, Avalon, Calif., who has a pending American record of 170 ft. 9 in., on the books; and Renae Blair, San Diego, with a toss of 167 ft. 2 in.

The forecast is for 100-degree heat every day—and that's why all competition is being staged in the morning and night.

Johnson Is Low Amateur In State Open With 219

Steve Johnson of the Cumberland Country low carded a 219 to finish as low amateur in the Maryland State Open Golf Tournament which was concluded Tuesday at the Prince Georges Country Club, Landover, Md.

Overall Johnson tied for eighth place with Jimmie Clark of the Argyle Country Club.

Paul Haviland, Maryland Golf and Country Club, was the winner with a six-under-par 210.

MINOR SUCCESS—Right at the top as a successful manager in the minors is Grady Hatton, former third baseman of the Reds, who piloted the Oklahoma City 89ers to the Pacific Coast loop title last year and is moving in that direction again this season. Grady's big complaint is that the loop is too spread out and the players spend too much time traveling.

58 To Compete In U.S. Women's Open Tourney

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The 12th annual United States Women's Open Golf Championship gets under way Thursday with an all-star field led by defending titleholder Mary Mills of Gulf Hills, Miss.

Fifty-eight contestants, divided about evenly between professionals and amateurs, are scheduled to tee off in the 72-hole medal play event which winds up with 36 holes Saturday.

Heavily favored to topple Miss Mills is San Diego's Mickey Wright. She calls Dallas home, but Mickey grew up here, has played the tournament course at the San Diego Country Club innumerable times and has won the national open three times in its 11 years' existence.

The course has women's par of 36-37-73. It is a rolling, well-trapped course, generously dotted with eucalyptus trees and measures 6,470 yards.

Don Dell Wins Two Matches In England

Buhl Wins Opener, Mays' 3-Run Homer Features Nightcap

CHICAGO (UPI)—Willie May's three-run homer, his 24th, propelled San Francisco to a 7-2 win over the Chicago Cubs and a doubleheader split Wednesday after Bob Buhl shut out the Giants 2-0 on a four-hitter in the opener.

The largest crowd of the season, 30,156, watched Buhl strike out five and walk four en route to his 10th win, while San Francisco used four hurlers with starter Bob Hendley charged with his fifth loss.

But the nightcap was the reverse and before it was called on account of darkness after seven innings, the Cubs had paraded six hurlers into action with starter Ernie Broglio getting his ninth defeat, his fourth without a win for the Cubs.

Broglio gave up a pair of runs in the first on two singles, a walk and a sacrifice fly and in the second Mays homered following a walk and a single to start the pitching shuttle. Wayne Schurr allowed the next two runs in the third on two singles, a forceout and another single.

Ron Herbel got his seventh win against four defeats, allowing seven hits. He walked three, and struck out six to break a four-game Giants losing streak.

Billy Williams connected for his 20th homer in the opener to give Buhl enough runs to win and become the first righthander to blank the Giants this year. It was the Cubs' seventh shutout, the third for Buhl, and the fourth time the Giants have been blanked.

Dallas Cowboys Sign McDonald

DALLAS (UPI)—Flanker-back Tommy McDonald, a five-time All-Pro player with the Philadelphia Eagles, has signed a contract with the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League, general manager Tex Schramm announced Wednesday.

McDonald, a seven-year veteran of the NFL, came to the Cowboys this spring in a trade that sent Sam Baker, Lynn Hovem and John Meyers to the Eagles.

MARKET ADVANCES AFTER CLIFFORD'S B.O.C.

Cliffhanger Performance

NEW YORK (AP). The stock market inched up to still another new high Wednesday in a cliffhanger performance.

The averages bobbed between advance and decline throughout the session.

Some strength developed, mainly in steels, late in the day but profit taking chewed into some recent major gainers.

Trading was moderately active.

Changes of key issues were mainly fractional although there were a few wider movers among specialty issues.

Rubbers, mail order-retails, tobaccos and drugs joined steels in the plus column. Metals, chemicals, rails, oils and building materials declined.

Rails were especially hard hit by profit taking.

The Dow Jones average industrials closed with a loss of 0.51 to 845.45 after having been lower most of the day.

The Associated Press 60 average advanced .2 to 316.10, with industrial 1.0 to a new high, rails and utilities up .2 to a new high. Of 1,367 issues traded, 5 advanced and 522 declined.

New 82 new 1964 highs a new low.

Volume contracted to 4.7 million shares from 5.25 million Tuesday.

Of the 15 most active stocks 9 advanced and 6 declined. Polard gained more than 2 points while IBM lost 2.

Prices on the American Exchange were mixed.

Corporate and government bonds were higher.

Grantsville Native Killed At Ft. Belvoir

Sherman Beachy, 33
Crushed By Truck

A 33-year-old native of Grantsville was killed Monday when a fork lift truck he was operating on the Army base at Ft. Belvoir, Va., overturned, crushing him beneath it.

The victim was Staff Sgt. Sherman Beachy Jr., son of Sherman Beachy and Clara (Miller) Beachy Sr., Grantsville. The soldier had returned to the base Sunday after visiting his parents on the Fourth of July holiday.

According to reports, S. Sgt. Beachy, a member of the 73d Engineer Battalion at Ft. Belvoir, and another soldier were moving the high lift from one motor pool to another on the base when the steering mechanism failed. The machine darted toward the left of the road and when Beachy attempted to turn it to the right to avoid oncoming traffic, the machine flipped over pinning him beneath it. He was killed instantly.

S. Sgt. Beachy was a 14-year Army veteran.

Besides his parents, he is survived by his wife, Irma (Hanft) Beachy and two sons, Donald and Patrick Beachy, residing at the Ft. Belvoir base; three brothers, Blaine and Virgil Beachy, Grantsville, and Cecil Beachy, Dallas, Pa.; three sisters, Mrs. Arlene Leedy, Towson; Mrs. Margaret Peck, Meyersdale, Pa., and Mrs. Helen Durst, Salisbury, Pa.

He was a member of Maple Glen Church of the Brethren and of the American Legion at Ft. Belvoir.

The body is at the Newman Funeral Home, Grantsville, where friends will be received after 7 p.m. today.

A service will be conducted there tomorrow at 2 p.m. by Rev. Dean Huntley, pastor of Maple Glen Church. Interment will be in Grantsville Cemetery.

A detachment of Army Engineers from Ft. Belvoir will accord full military honors at graveside.

17 B&O Freight Cars Derail At Tunnelton

KINGWOOD, W. Va. (UPI)—Crewmen working to clear a 17-car Baltimore and Ohio Railroad derailment at nearby Tunnelton hoped to have one of the two main tracks cleared by Thursday morning.

The fast freight was carrying mixed cargo from Parkersburg to New Jersey when the derailment occurred Wednesday afternoon. No injuries were reported.

Authorities said some of the cars jumped an embankment along the track. Switching tracks also were blocked.

A spokesman said tool cars from Grafton and Cumberland, Md., were called to the scene to help clear the wreckage.

Cause of the derailment was not determined immediately.

The train was carrying a five-member crew.

Newspaper Contest May Be Held Here

The City Recreation Department may sponsor a contest for newspapers published by playgrounds this summer, according to Mrs. Eva Hogan, assistant recreation director and general playground supervisor.

She said 11 of the 13 grounds are publishing weekly newspapers; this year and that children and their parents are taking a great deal of interest in the project.

Each of the playgrounds which are sponsoring newspapers has selected a staff to gather, edit and prepare the news.

Copies are mimeographed by the Recreation Department for distribution on Wednesday nights. They are sold at from three to five cents a copy and funds are used to finance special activities on the grounds.

Each publication lists coming events, winners of events during the past week and items of interest to the children.

A fun section and art work are included in most of the publications which are generally well prepared and edited.

Authorities Probe Fire At Elkins

'Hoodlums' Probably Set Building Ablaze

Two "hoodlums" who were loitering on the premises apparently accidentally set a fire which leveled the old Kistler Leather Company building in Elkins, W. Va., Sunday morning causing damage estimated at $100,000, authorities said.

A representative of the state fire marshal's office in Charleston conferred yesterday and Tuesday with Elkins Fire Chief Frank Moore for an investigation of the blaze fought by four volunteer fire companies.

Fire Chief Moore said a 100-foot smokestack, located on the north end of the destroyed building, was cracked in about five places due to the fire and "could go any time."

The smokestack is scheduled to be dynamited in the next few days, he added.

The rambling old building now owned by the Frazee Lumber Company of Uniontown, Pa., was burned to the ground. The fire destroyed enough equipment for three sawmills and an undetermined amount of lumber and other supplies.

Fire Chief Moore said the building, which measured about 1,500 feet long and 40 feet wide, had been vacant since about 1945.

Police said the building was a favorite shelter for vagrants and hobos.

A possible disaster was prevented by light wind, according to firemen, who said high winds could have spread flames to many homes and gasoline storage tanks belonging to the Sinclair, Gulf and Pure Oil companies.

Some 45 firemen from Elkins, Huttonsville, Mill Creek and Parsons doused nearby buildings and lumber storage piles to prevent the fire from spreading.

Five persons were hospitalized yesterday afternoon with injuries sustained in a two-vehicle collision inside the Allegheny Tunnel on the Pennsylvania Turnpike about 23 miles west of Bedford.

Police said the two station wagons were traveling in opposite directions when the collision occurred about 1:20 p.m. (EST.)

Admitted to Somerset Community Hospital were J. Murrow, 70, of Philadelphia, driver of one of the vehicles and his wife, Margaret Rodman, 16, of Lacro, Wis., her mother, Mary Rodman, and Thomas Rodman, who apparently was the most seriously injured, according to police, who said he suffered a possible skull fracture.

Police said the Murrow vehicle crossed into the path of the vehicle operated by Miss Rodman.

City Registration Static In June

Voting rolls of the City of Cumberland began and ended June with 9,158 persons registered and eligible to take part in municipal elections.

Ten persons, five men and five women, were registered during the month but the increase was nullified by the removal of the names of 10 deceased voters.

The registration rolls include 4,843 men and 4,315 women.

Alligator Is Found In Catch Basin

'We've pulled about everything out of sewers here but this is the first time we've found an alligator.'

That was the comment of a member of the Cumberland Street Department in describing the find made by two city workers as they were cleaning a catch basin at the intersection of Maryland Avenue and Williams Street yesterday.

The young alligator was found by Homer L. "Jack" Baker, machine operator, and Gilbert Markwood, chauffeur, in the bucket of the catch basin cleaning unit.

Ray Valentine, Street Department superintendent, said the three-to-four-month-old alligator was taken to the Street Department warehouse, where workers yesterday afternoon were throwing bits of hamburger.

Throw the word, for all agreed he was a "little mean" and inclined to grab anything that comes within biting distance.

The men found that the former pet was mean when it tried to bite them as they tried to pick it up by the tail.

Using caution, the men dropped the 18-inch-long alligator into a sack and took it to the warehouse, where it was at home yesterday, swimming in a five-gallon water can.

The sewer crews theorized the alligator was brought here from Florida as a pet several months ago and then dropped into the catch basin when its meaner traits began to develop.

Anyone who wants an alligator without using it as an excuse for a Florida vacation is advised to contact the Street Department right away.

Subdivision, Zoning Rules Are Available

Copies of the city's zoning and subdivision regulations are available for sale at the City Engineering Office on the second floor of City Hall.

The zoning ordinance, which includes a map showing the zones in the city limits, is available for $2 and the Subdivision regulations for $1.50.

The copies on hand were supplied by the city's planning consultants as part of a contract calling for the preparation of a comprehensive plan for the city's development.

Staffers said the available supply is limited, as only 100 copies were prepared by the planning consultants.

The costs are based on quotations furnished by printers for preparing additional copies of the regulations.

Challenging Task Faces Former Moscow Resident

Wilbur G. Malcolm, chairman of the American Cyanamid Company and a native of Moscow, is featured in the June 15 issue of Forbes magazine.

Mr. Malcolm is pictured on the cover of the magazine and featured in a five-page article, "American Cyanamid: Battling For Balance."

The article says that as a drug company, American Cyanamid is an unqualified success but that as a diversified chemical company, it leaves much to be desired.

Mr. Malcolm established a highly successful record as general manager of the company's Lederle Laboratories, the pharmaceutical division, the magazine said, and is now trying to do the same with other divisions.

The article points out that while Mr. Malcolm was Lederle's executive director in 1939, he

Mental Health Study, Planning Unit Organized

Allan Weatherholt
Heads Committee

F. Allan Weatherholt was named chairman of the Allegheny County Mental Health Study and Planning Committee formed yesterday at a meeting in the Mental Health Clinic at the Health Department on Union Street.

Homer S. Higgins will serve as co-chairman and Mrs. Jennie J. Grahame, secretary of the new committee.

Others attending the initial session were David Nurco of the Office of Mental Health Planning, Baltimore; Dr. Julian Abrams, Springfield State Hospital staff member, Mrs. Ella Everstine, psychiatric social worker for Allegheny County Health Department; Dr. Arthur F. Jones, acting deputy state health officer, and Miss Perina Grassi, senior health nurse.

Establishment of the local committee is part of a federal and state program organized to develop a comprehensive community mental health plan, which began in February 1963 when President Kennedy asked Congress for a national mental health program to improve service and care for the mentally ill.

Year-Long Study
When Congress made money available for study plans, Maryland submitted its request through the State Board of Health and Mental Hygiene. Local communities will conduct a study for the program, completing it in June 1965.

Mr. Weatherholt will appoint subcommittees to prepare data of existing services for mental health in the county in relation to economic trends, population growth and social problems as well as existing and anticipated mental health needs. The committees will enlist aid from such areas as housing, education, employment, recreation and social activity, the courts and police.

When all information is compiled it will be assembled and used as a guide for the comprehensive community mental health plan. The study will put Allegheny County in line for improved care of mental cases and will seek to show the cause and effect of mental illness on social and economic life of the community, and what can be done at the local level to prevent mental illness.

Two Groups Planned
Mr. Weatherholt reported on a meeting he attended Tuesday with Robert Sawyer, executive director of Mental Health Association, Baltimore, and Mrs. Helen Crabtree, Morantown, secretary of the recent mental health fund campaign, of which Mr. Weatherholt was chairman. The purpose of that meeting was to further plans for the establishment of a mental health association in Allegheny County.

Mr. Weatherholt reported that it was agreed the two groups will work closely with one another, the actions of one augmenting the other.

"It is extremely important that such a program be started, since one of every 10 persons now living has been or will be struck by some form of mental illness or emotional disturbance," he said.

Optimists Honor Youth For Speedy First Aid

A quick-thinking North End youth who may have saved a younger boy's life by promptly applying first aid for a severed artery was honored last night by the Optimist Club of Cumberland.

John Bloise, 18, of 825 Shawnee Avenue, was presented a plaque inscribed: "To John Bloise in grateful recognition relative to the humanitarian effort in rendering first aid assistance to a fellow citizen."

The club also gave him a $25 savings bond which John plans to apply to his education. He graduated last month from Allegheny High School and will enter Frostburg State College in September.

The incident for which he was honored occurred June 2 at Allegheny High School.

A 12-year-old boy unintentionally "slight-armed" a glass door, missed the handle and put his arm through the glass, gashing the arm almost from wrist to elbow and severing an artery.

John heard the boy scream and rushed to his aid while other students notified Cpl. Oliver Cook of the City Police, who was directing traffic at Tighman Street just outside the school.

By the time Cpl. Cook arrived, John had borrowed a T-shirt from another boy to make a pressure bandage, used still another boy's belt to install a tourniquet, and had the situation well in hand.

He accompanied Cpl. Cook and the younger boy to the hospital so that he could periodically loosen the tourniquet. He knew from his Boy Scout first aid training that a tourniquet left too tight for too long can cause problems almost as serious as the bleeding it was intended to control.

The boy needed 33 sutures in his arm, but was able to return to school next day.

John, who rose to the rank of Star Scout, is a member of Explorer Post 4 at Centre Street Methodist Church. He also is a past president of the Methodist Youth Fellowship at Centre Street.

His proud mother, Mrs. Ray Bloise, said last night that he is interested in entering the religious mission field after college.

Five Boys Face Quizzing In Theft Of Drinks

Five youngsters and their parents will be questioned in Police headquarters Monday in connection with the theft of beer and tonic bottles from the Cumberland Brewery.

The lads, ranging in age from 7-10, were picked up yesterday by Capt. James E. Van and Detective Harry Iser after officials of the plant reported that children had taken a number of cans from the loading dock.

The youngsters still had some of the evidence in their possession when they were picked up for questioning.

The Detective Bureau also was investigating the theft of two aluminum chairs from porches over the night.

The thefts were reported by Mrs. Walter Holtzman, 420 Goethe Street, and Mrs. Randall Skidmore, 6307 Frederick Street.

Also under investigation was a complaint from Mrs. Charles E. Howdyshel, 121 Oak Street, that a pellet had been shot through a second floor bedroom window.

Police found a broken glass marble in the room and said it was believed that a slingshot was used to shoot the marble. The investigation into the incident was being continued.

Child Killed On Turnpike

An eight-year-old Pittsburgh girl was killed instantly when she was thrown from her father's car against the side of a passing Trailways bus and then was run over by another vehicle last night on the Pennsylvania Turnpike about six miles west of Bedford.

Diana Ward, daughter of Rev. Richard Ward, 31, of 811 Bryn Mawr Road, Pittsburgh, was pronounced dead at the scene at 9:15 p.m. EST.

State Police said Rev. Ward was driving east on the Turnpike with his four young daughters and a niece when he lost control of the car on a slight left curve and upended. The road was wet.

The car hit the guardrail, throwing four-year-old Janie Ward clear. She was unhurt.

Optimists Honor Youth For Speedy First Aid

A quick-thinking North End youth who may have saved a younger boy's life by promptly applying first aid for a severed artery was honored last night by the Optimist Club of Cumberland.

John Bloise, 18, of 825 Shawnee Avenue, was presented a plaque inscribed: "To John Bloise in grateful recognition relative to the humanitarian effort in rendering first aid assistance to a fellow citizen."

The club also gave him a $25 savings bond which John plans to apply to his education. He graduated last month from Allegheny High School and will enter Frostburg State College in September.

The incident for which he was honored occurred June 2 at Allegheny High School.

A 12-year-old boy unintentionally "slight-armed" a glass door, missed the handle and put his arm through the glass, gashing the arm almost from wrist to elbow and severing an artery.

John heard the boy scream and rushed to his aid while other students notified Cpl. Oliver Cook of the City Police, who was directing traffic at Tighman Street just outside the school.

By the time Cpl. Cook arrived, John had borrowed a T-shirt from another boy to make a pressure bandage, used still another boy's belt to install a tourniquet, and had the situation well in hand.

He accompanied Cpl. Cook and the younger boy to the hospital so that he could periodically loosen the tourniquet. He knew from his Boy Scout first aid training that a tourniquet left too tight for too long can cause problems almost as serious as the bleeding it was intended to control.

The boy needed 33 sutures in his arm, but was able to return to school next day.

John, who rose to the rank of Star Scout, is a member of Explorer Post 4 at Centre Street Methodist Church. He also is a past president of the Methodist Youth Fellowship at Centre Street.

His proud mother, Mrs. Ray Bloise, said last night that he is interested in entering the religious mission field after college.
